Hospital Superintendent Expresses Belief That 1200 of Slocum's Passengers are Dead—Heart Rending Scenes on Board Ill-Fated Steamer That Baffled Description—Captain of the Slocum Makes a Statement.

New York, June 16.—(Bulletin)—Superintendent Rickard, of Bellevue hospital, expressed his belief today that 1,200 of the 1,500 people on board the Slocum are dead.

Up to noon today 469 bodies had arrived at the morgue and seventy more were on their way aboard the tug Fidelity. This makes the total number of dead received 539. One hundred and sixty-five bodies have been identified and permits for their removal given.

New York, June 16.—About two hundred and fifty feet from the New York shore, off the place known as Hunt's Point, the upper part of a paddle box, two smokestacks, a scorched flagstaff and some twisted and bent iron work, all sticking out of the water at an angle of 45 degrees, today lie the remnants of the ill-fated steamboat General Slocum. It is a temporary and hideous monument at the scene where nearly 1,000 persons, the great bulk of whom were women and children, lost their lives in fire and water.

Today there are grave murmurings and charges that this terrible sacrifice of life was needless—that the officers of the boat, though their bravery is admitted, erred when they drove the burning vessel for half a mile before beaching her, that the life belts were rotten and unserviceable and that the construction of the upper works of the boat were faulty.

Long Island Sound this morning was covered with a thick white mist that settled around the wreck of the Slocum as if in an endeavor to cover the horror spot with a huge white mantle. All through the night wrecking tugs hovered about the wreck, but the work of taking out bodies, which had been suspended at midnight, was not resumed until the sun was well up in the heavens. Half dozen divers were at work this morning.

The number of dead even now can only be estimated. Health Commissioner Darlington, who was at the scene all day yesterday and has watched the horror in all its details, says the victims will number at least one thousand and will probably exceed that figure. Five hundred bodies had been recovered up to 3:30 this morning and every half hour was adding ten and more to the list.

It is known that nearly 1,500 persons boarded the Slocum when she left her pier yesterday morning. Less than 500 have been accounted for at the hospital.

daughter at the morgue this morning. With a wild cry she dashed for the river and was about to throw herself into the waters. She was seized by the police. The woman drew a vial of carbolic acid from her pocket and was about to drink it when the bottle was knocked from her hands. The woman is now raving mad.

Jacob Denensch found his daughter, Lena, in a dying condition at Lebanon hospital. He hunted all day for his wife and family and finally found her at the morgue. His wife's body was burned beyond recognition, but he identified her by means of a ring. Crazed with grief, he ran to the edge of the pier and was about to throw himself overboard when he was seized.

"Let me go," he pleaded, "let me die. I am left without all that was dearest to me in life. I must die with them."

"I am satisfied that fully 1,000 have lost their lives in this disaster," said Commissioner Darlington today, "this estimate being made after carefully going over the entire accident. There were 1,500 persons on the boat. Only two hundred of these were cared for at North Brothers Island hospital. The ruins of the boat are still choked with bodies."

Superintendent Richard, of Bellevue hospital, said this morning: "It will take days and days to identify all the bodies. In all my eighteen years of hospital experience this is the most appalling accident I ever heard of. I believe that 1,200 people are dead."

St. Mark's German Lutheran church, the parishioners of which hired the Slocum for a happy day, but which proved a day of death, stands on East Sixth street, between the Bowery and Second avenue.

An idea of the terrible strain under which the people labored may be obtained from incidents in the neighborhood. Late last night a crowd of tearful frantic women rushed toward a young woman who alighted, banged and burned from a car. A man put his arm about her and half carried her to the curb. One white-haired woman in the crowd rushed to the girl's side, and clutched at her shoulder. With painful effort the girl turned her head. A glad cry escaped the old woman.

"Thank God," she cried, "you are here."

The girl put her arms about the old woman's neck and uttered the one word "mother." The crowd cheered and then assisted the reunited ones to their home nearby.

In front of the house of Edward Klein, at 81 Avenue A, a sympathetic crowd was gathered this morning. He had lost his entire family. Crepe, some white, some black, hangs from many doors today and the death emblems are constantly being added to.

The day of disaster was followed by a night of horror and grief at the morgue, where over 400 bodies lay in silent rows awaiting identification. Each hour brought more bodies from the waters in and about the wreck and the work of identification proceeded slowly.

The scenes at the morgue were heart-breaking. All night and today hundreds with faces drawn in grief and blanched in horror passed between the lines of dead looking for their lost ones. Fifty police assisted in the work of finding the dead. Now and then a party of searchers halted before a corpse, believing that they had found their own, only to pass on again to look elsewhere. Many of the dead were burned and charred beyond recognition and some times an identification was effected by a piece of clothing or a ring. Many will have to be buried without identification.

All through the night the work went on, while, now and then, above the moans and cries, an agonizing shriek would tell of another identified dead. Many fainted when they discovered their lost ones. One woman, Mrs. Lena Rosske, after an all night search among the dead, found her ten-year-old daughter at the morgue this morning. With a wild cry she dashed for the river and was about to throw herself into the waters. She was seized by the police. The woman drew a vial of carbolic acid from her pocket and was about to drink it when the bottle was knocked from her hands. The woman is now raving mad.

"I knew that I could have saved some time by running into the docks on the west shore of the river, but I did not do this because I feared that the burning ship might cause one of the big gas tanks on the river front to explode. If I did wrong in making the longer run to North Brothers Island and I have a lifetime to regret it. I did what I thought at the time was best."

Today the bravery exhibited by Captain Van Schaick is admitted by survivors. There are many who think he erred in making the longer run to North Brothers Island instead of putting into the New York shore, but they give him credit to sticking by his ship to the last. The captain's hat was burned from his head and his clothing was on fire when he leaped into the water. He had also accomplished what he had started out to do—to beach his boat—before he tried to save himself.

The mystery as to the cause of the fire may never be cleared. No one can be found who actually saw the fire start. It is known however, that the blaze flared up first near the lunch counter forward on the lower deck.

APPALING
Is the Steamer Disaster, Tragic in Its Immensity—Further Details Are Given.

New York, June 16.—This morning the coroners announced that 485 bodies had been recovered from the destroyed excursion steamer General Slocum. Before leaving North Brothers Island this morning Coroner Darlington said that probably 100 more corpses are still in the hull of the wrecked vessel.

The destruction of this excursion steamer, which carried probably 2,000 people, fully 600 of whom lost their lives and many others were seriously injured or badly burned, is one of the most appalling disasters in the history of New York, tragic in its immensity, graphic in its episodes and deeply pathetic in the tender age of most of its victims. As telegraphed in these dispatches to The Advocate yesterday afternoon, the disaster took place in the East river at Hell Gate, at the entrance to Long Island Sound, within a short distance of the New York shore and within sight of thousands of people, the majority of whom were powerless to minimize the extent of the catastrophe.

By the burning to the water's edge of the General Slocum, a three-decked excursion steamer, the largest in these waters, carrying the Sunday school excursion of the St. Mark's German Lutheran church, more than six hundred persons, the majority of whom were women and children, were burned to death or drowned by jumping overboard or by being thrown into the whirlpools by the lurching of the vessel and the frantic rush of the panic-stricken passengers.

"The scene was simply awful, horrible," he says. "Hundreds of women and children were pushed into the water and drowned before our eyes. I tried to reach my mother and sister-in-law and the two children, but I was separated from them by that crowd of mad men and no man on earth could have made his way through it."

"I went up to the captain and begged him to beach the boat, as did scores of others, but nothing was done in that way. Why it was not I do not know; I only know that my two children are out there in that water dead, with my mother and my sister-in-law."

which she was almost entirely built, she was soon a mass of flames.

The race to North Brother Island was horribly dramatic. It was made while the flames, which had been fanned into a fury by the strong head wind, were consuming hundreds of persons, old and young. The scene was one of frightful panic, with men, women and children jumping overboard and being lashed by the channel whirlpools against the vessel's sides. Women and children were crowded together on the hurricane deck, which soon burned away and fell, and it is believed that most of those on this deck were burned.

The after rail gave way and the passengers who had crowded about it were pushed into the river. Mothers and children became separated and went frantic, while in several cases fathers gathered their children about them and jumped into the water. Little children holding each other by the hand jumped into the water together and were afterward found clasped in each other's arms. It is alleged that men fought with women to escape, resulting in the trampling under foot of scores of children.

Scores of tugs and small boats rushed to the rescue and men crowded to the rails of the tugs and caught up the drowning persons as they were borne by the current. There were many thrilling rescues by this means.

North Brother Island, where the vessel was beached, contains a scarlet fever ward. The patients who witnessed the disaster were ordered indoors and the doctors hastened to the rescue of those who had been washed ashore, but some scores of persons died while they were being attended to.

LITTLE BOY

Saved Four Children, But Was Run Down by Launch When Trying to Save the Fifth.

New York, June 16.—Little Willie Elcetz, a 14-year-old boy, is supposed to have been drowned, but before he gave up his own life he saved the lives of four other children. As soon as he saw the water full of little children he leaped overboard and began the work of rescue. He held two children's heads above the water until a boat came along and picked them up, then swam to another child and saved that. A fourth child he just managed to hold up until help came, and he was swimming for a fifth when a gasoline launch with an excited pilot came along at great speed. The pilot of the launch evidently didn't see the little fellow, for he crashed into him and the boy was not seen again. He was probably drowned.

BATTLE AT TELISSA

Russians Lost 800 and the Japanese About One Thousand

Czar's Ships Sink Two Jap Transports—Fighting at Vafangow Continues—A Japanese Victory Near Fuchou—Battle Is Now in Progress.

London, June 16.—The Tokio correspondent of Reuter's says that in a fight at Telissa, near Fou Chow, the Russians lost 500 killed and 300 taken prisoners. They also lost 14 guns. The Japanese casualties are placed at 1,000.

Tokio, June 16.—Doubts as to the authenticity of the reported sinking of transports Hitachi Maru and Sado Maru by Japanese warships, have been removed. Three hundred and ninety-seven survivors of the former transport and 15 from the latter have reached shore.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—An official dispatch received today states that the fighting between the Russians and Japanese at Vafangow continues. The Russian losses on June 14, says the dispatch, were two generals wounded 20 officers and 200 men killed and wounded. On June 15 the Russians attacked the Japanese who returned the attack at several points.

Heavy Japanese reinforcements have been received. The Japanese now have three divisions in the vicinity.

London, June 16.—A dispatch to the Daily Express from Tokio, dated June 15, says news has been received there, but has not yet been officially published, of a great Japanese victory near Fuchou, on the railway, seventy miles north of Port Arthur.

Later a section of Russian cavalry marching in the direction of Tafan-mach and Iun Koo, discovered on its right flank a great force of Japanese cavalry. An engagement ensued, and according to the latest dispatches, fighting is proceeding all along the line, the Japanese having obtained reinforcements from Vafangow, consisting of three infantry divisions with artillery and cavalry.

SURVIVOR

Tells of the Awful Struggle on Board the Burning Steamer—His Family Perished.

New York, June 16.—Many of those aboard the Slocum who had lost their dear ones, and later fathers of families who had come to search for wives and children among the long rows of dead at North Brothers' Island and other places which had been turned into temporary morgues, were literally crazed.

Among these was Frederick Hoffmann, a fireman attached to engine No. 25. He was hardly able to talk, but finally managed to show that his entire family, with the exception of his wife, had been lost. Those who died almost before his eyes were his mother, his sister-in-law and his two children.

"The scene was simply awful, horrible," he says. "Hundreds of women and children were pushed into the water and drowned before our eyes. I tried to reach my mother and sister-in-law and the two children, but I was separated from them by that crowd of mad men and no man on earth could have made his way through it."

PARADE

Of Veterans Was Feature of the G. A. R. Encampment Held at Tiffin, O.

Tiffin, O., June 16.—The large parade was the feature of the state G. A. R. encampment. It was participated in by about 10,000 persons and civic and allied organizations joined with the veterans. G. A. R. commands from 15 districts of the state were in line, led by Commander Yenling.

This was the gala day of the encampment and hundreds of visitors were here.

The report of the department adjutant general shows that there was a net loss in the state in 1903 of 2,673 members. The previous year there was a gain of 27. January 1, 1903, there were 602 posts, with a membership of 27,553; January 1, 1904, there were 583 posts, with a membership of 25,180. Since then three more posts have been dropped.

The fight for department commander has settled between Colonel Dewstoe and Conrad Moulton.

WEDDING TALK.

Some Happy Notions About Various Points of the Home Wedding.

For a home wedding, especially if the bride wears a white gown, a green and white color scheme is charming and not difficult to arrange. However, some brunettes, to whom white is not becoming and who wish to look their best on their wedding day, have chosen a pink setting for their bridal, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine in a short chat on wedding matters.

For an early June wedding, in localities where it is abundant, the wild pink azalea makes a most effective decoration. Garden roses are seldom available until the very last of the month, but when they are plentiful nothing finer can be desired. A bride may now wear or carry any favorite flower, the old time prestige of the orange blossom having in some measure departed.

It was a happy thought which gave mothers a place in the bridal procession. Fathers, sisters and brothers all had their duties in connection with the event, but oftentimes the mother was left alone during the ceremony. Now one or both mothers form a graceful and dignified part of the procession.

A pretty idea for a home wedding is to have the young guests surround the couple during the ceremony. This saves choosing bridesmaids, which is sometimes a difficult thing to do when one has many friends and relatives.

Every prospective bride loves to show her trousseau to a few close friends. This is sometimes made the occasion of a small tea or gathering and gives an opportunity for bestowing any small and dainty gift. This is a much better way than the once popular shower, which is now thought not quite good form.

The refreshments for a home wedding may be passed or they may be served at small tables scattered through the house, and this is by far the most comfortable way. If convenient, tables with twenty-four inch tops may be hired for the occasion. These may be covered with large napkins of dinner size if the hostess has not a sufficient number of embroidered or drawn work cloths.

For the wedding reception in summer nothing more is required than ice cool drinks, small cakes and sandwiches. Of course if one chooses a salad may be added, accompanied with thin cut bread and butter or wafers. Careful attention to all the small details will mark the perfection of the entertainment and add much to the comfort of the guests.

tinted ribbon, blue, pink and biscuit, lies in soft folds about the crown, together with a cluster of beautiful pink roses and accompanying foliage.

How the Sun Burns the Skin.
The sun does actually burn the skin, and there is no difference between its burns and one produced from any other kind of intense heat. The oils and necessary moisture in the skin are evaporated by the sun. The sun burns the cuticle of the skin when exposed to its rays. The skin gets parched and is rendered apparently lifeless, and then it peels or dies away.

The following is an excellent preparation to allay the burning of the skin:

Milk, one pint; carbonate of soda, one ounce; glycerin, one ounce; powdered borax, one-half ounce. This can be used several times a day if required.

Custard Making.
When making custards for puddings and the filling for custard pies, if the milk is brought to the scalding point and then stirred into the beaten eggs and sugar and placed at once in the oven for baking it will require only half the time usually allowed for cooking. A custard pudding may be steamed and is oftentimes nicer than baked, being more delicate. A cup custard will be steamed sufficiently in fifteen minutes.

Household Brevities.

Use the potato ricer for cheese that is to be sprinkled on spaghetti, etc., instead of spending time grating it.

Ham soaked in milk overnight will be found exceedingly tender and sweet when used for breakfast the next morning.

Allow grass stained spots to remain saturated with alcohol for a little time, then wash in clear water.

When the fingers are stained in peeling fruits dip them in strong tea, rubbing them well with a nailbrush and afterward wash them in warm water, and the stains will disappear.

Any one who has been eating onions should eat a few leaves of parsley steeped in vinegar. After handling onions rub the hands over with raw potato.

Governor by Proxy

By JOHN TAYLOR WALDORF

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

On the station platform at desolate Xerxes Junction stood two impatient men. The big, lumbering, round faced man was Colonel Joe Layson; the thin, sallow one was Henry Clay Finley. It was campaign time, and the twain were "swinging around the circle." Colonel Layson as the candidate of the "outs" for governor and Finley as the spellbinder paid to extol the merits of his party's standard bearer.

The afternoon train that was to stop at Xerxes Junction and take on passengers for Ardenia was late, and the rough old colonel began to swear as he studied his watch.

"I'll be here in a minute, governor," said Finley soothingly, carefully observing the custom of addressing candidates by the title to which they aspire.

A scrawny, bent over old woman, carrying an apronful of wood, came out of the clump of trees across the railroad track and limped along until she reached the platform, where she stopped and looked up into the colonel's face with vacant eyed curiosity. Finley was shocked.

"BE YOU GUVNER?" SHE ASKED.

"Such beastly manners!" he exclaimed. "Shall I order her to be off, governor?"

Before the colonel could answer, the old woman clambered upon the platform and limped eagerly to his side.

"Be you the guvner?" she asked.

The colonel smiled a big hearted smile and answered, "That's what they call me."

"Wont you pardon my boy? He's servin' five years in Osborn prison. The old man's been sick abed for months, and I ain't able to work, and we're nearly starvin'. Pardon the boy, won't you, guvner? I wanted to go down to the capital a year ago when they took Dannie away, but I had no money, and I couldn't walk that far."

The colonel raised his finger and seemed about to explain, but the woman talked on piteously.

"They say he stole a cow for Halder, the cattle king that lives down at Belhaven. Maybe you know him. I don't if he did, guvner, it wouldn't be right ruskin' him off to prison and leavin' old Halder free and still 'hirin' honest boys to steal cattle for him."

"It doesn't seem right, for a fact," admitted the colonel.

"But my good woman," interrupted Finley, "there was certainly no evidence against Mr. Halder, or surely the majesty of the law would have been sustained, and he, too, would have suffered the punishment of the transgressor."

"I don't catch all your fine words, mister, but I know Dan's in prison, and Halder is guilty. Fine words can't round them facts."

"Well put," chuckled the colonel. "Finley, it would be a good scheme if you talk English once in awhile."

The woman looked puzzled a moment, but the colonel's face was kindly, and, throwing down her bundle of wood, she dropped on her knees before him.

"Please pardon my boy, guvner! The old man and me'll die before spring if you don't. It won't hurt you to pardon him. He ain't no dangerous crim'nal."

Anybody round here'll tell you Dannie Higgs was never before the judge till this time. He's all the child I got left, guvner. Don't keep him from me!"

The colonel helped Mrs. Higgs to her feet and led her to a bench just outside the door of the little telegraph office. All the while he was thinking deeply. He was the candidate of the "outs" for governor. The "ins" had a natural majority of 50,000 votes. Governor John Randall, with a good official record to back him, was up for reelection, and Colonel Joe Layson had as much chance of becoming governor as he had of claiming the throne of Turkey. He resolved the situation in his mind, and as he found his inspiration.

Mrs. Higgs started to rise, but he waved her back, saying: "Just wait there, madam, until I send a message and get an answer. I'm going to investigate this matter at once."

Findley whistled, but the colonel only frowned and stalked into the telegraph office. For perhaps two minutes he wrote steadily. When he had finished he hurriedly gathered up the sat sfactory sheets and slammed them down on the operator's table.

"Here, my man," he commanded, "send this in a big hurry."

The operator looked up sleepily, rubbed his eyes and read:

To Hon. John Randall, Executive Mansion, Eagleton.

My Dear Governor—I'm running against you, but you know it's only for exercise, and I want you to help me out of a hole that has nothing to do with politics. I've got an old woman here who takes me for you and wants me to pardon her son. It would be a shame to undeceive her, and anyway I'm better looking than you are. The boy's name is Dan Higgs. He was sent up for five years for cattle stealing. His father is sick, and both father and mother are starving. Pardon the boy for me, John. I never envied you your job until this minute, and even now I want it only long enough to pardon a cow stealer. Answer at once. I'll wait here at this God forsaken junction until I hear from you.

JOSEPH LATON.

It was the longest and by far the oddest telegram known in Xerxes Junction. The operator looked dubiously and timidly suggested, "You might skeletonize this and save me."

"No, sir," said the colonel decidedly.

"Send every blamed word of it. This is a matter of state."

The operator labored with the message, while the colonel went out on the platform to tell Mrs. Higgs to wait patiently. Soon after the message had gone over the wires the Ardenia train came puffing in.

"Come on, governor," said Finley.

"We can't wait any longer."

"I can't leave now," answered the colonel, leaning languidly against the station door.

"But you must. We speak in Ardenia tonight."

"You can make enough noise for both of us."

"Ardenia counts on hearing you, governor," urged Finley. "A willful disappointment like this might ruin your chances of election."

"You know I never had any, Finley. What's the use of saying that? Anyhow, I'm not going." With that he took a seat on the bench beside Mrs. Higgs. "You'd better be moving, Finley," he added. "I'll join you at Beedsburg in the morning."

Just then the operator came rushing out with a message. The colonel seized it, almost tearing it in half in his eagerness, then held the pieces in his shaking hands while he read:

Dear Colonel—Have telephoned to warder at Osborn. No objection there. Higgs' pardon signed this minute. Glad to be of service.

JOHN RANDALL.

The colonel turned to Mrs. Higgs.

"It's all right," he said thickly. "Your boy will be home tomorrow."

"Thank you! Thank you! You're the best guvner God ever made!" At this she broke down and sobbed.

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor.

The colonel took a step toward the train. "It's all right," he repeated.

"I've done only my duty, but if you feel grateful tell the boy to vote for me, John Randall, for governor."

Waterproof Paper.

Japanese oiled papers, made from the barks of trees or shrubs, are astonishingly cheap and durable, according to a writer in the National Geographic Magazine. As a cover for his load of tea when a rainstorm overtakes him, the Japanese farmer spreads over it a tough, pliable cover of oiled paper which is almost as impervious as tar-paper and as light as gossamer. He has doubtless carried this cover for years, neatly packed away somewhere about his cart. The rickshaw coolies in the large cities wear rain mantles of this oiled paper, which cost less than 18 cents and last for a year or more with constant use.

But perhaps the most remarkable of all the papers which find a common use in the Japanese household are the leather papers of which tobacco pouches and pipe cases are made. They are almost as tough as French kid, so translucent that one can nearly see through them and as pliable and soft as calfskin. The material of which they are made is as thick as cardboard, but as flexible as kid.

They say he stole a cow for Halder, the cattle king that lives down at Belhaven. Maybe you know him. I don't if he did, guvner, it wouldn't be right ruskin' him off to prison and leavin' old Halder free and still 'hirin' honest boys to steal cattle for him."

Then wrote another word or two, then paused and bit again.

And said, "I wish just now that I could map it out somehow."

I've looked at organdie and mull and taffeta and lawn.

I liked one piece of crepe de chine, but now that piece is gone."

"BEYOND the Alps lies Italy"—she made a flourish like this.

And laid her pen beside the sheet with a distracted air.

"BEYOND the Alps—" "Shall I have it ruched or shall I have it plain?"

They say that bounces wide and deep are coming again.

Sometimes I think it would be nice to put on lots of braid.

And then again my fancy runs to something applied."

"BEYOND the Alps lies Italy"—she turned and took a deep.

Or sample from the table top and studied long and deep.

"I like this rosebud pattern and this one with dots of blue.

And this with stripes invisible—I think I like it too.

But shall I have it made up plain? It might be well, I guess.

To have it so that afterward 'twill be a party dress."

"BEYOND the Alps lies Italy"—she pushed the page away.

And murmured "This won't do at all; I must decide today."

THE STEAMER DISASTER.

The telegraph yesterday afternoon brought to Newark news of the appalling disaster which befell a crowded excursion steamer near New York City. Over 500 bodies have already been recovered, many remain in the hold of the vessel and doubtless many will die from injuries received. The officials say the death list will exceed 1,000.

The heart is made sick by the accounts of the terrible catastrophe and a distressing feature is that the majority of the victims were women and children who had left the great city to enjoy the pleasures of a Sunday school excursion up the river.

Happy in the enjoyment of the outing, delighted by the steamer ride, the boys and girls and their parents were in joyous spirits when suddenly as the huge steamer, crowded with perhaps 2,000 souls, was passing through the seething whirlpools of Hell's Gate, the flames burst forth and enveloped the entire vessel before a landing could be made. The captain stated that it was impossible to beach the ship and before North Brothers Island was reached the awful slaughter had been accomplished. The panic was indescribable. Women, crazed with fright, fought and clawed to escape. Strong men apparently forgetting the hundreds of women and children trampled them down in an effort to save themselves. Little children panic stricken either fell into the seething furnace or jumped overboard to meet death in another form.

No pen can write the awful terror of those moments yet with the sickening details of the horror comes news of the heroism and self-sacrifice of many noble people, not the least, being a little boy who plunged into the water from the steamer and succeeded in saving four other children who were unable to swim, then instead of saving himself, the lad bravely swam out to save a fifth, but was run down and drowned by a passing launch.

By the destruction of the General Slocum nearly half of the members of St. Mark's German Lutheran Sunday School were killed. In the panic that reigned mothers became separated from their children and in the fight for life each battled for himself. The choice lay between death by fire or death by drowning. The river was the grave for half of the victims while the burning ship was the crematory of the other half.

Witnesses on shore agree with the survivors that many more lives could have been saved had the captain beached his ship when informed of the blaze.

The fire started in the kitchen of the boat but whether from an overturning pot of grease, from the lighted stump of a cigar, or from another cause has not as yet been learned.

The General Slocum disaster stands unequalled in recent years for its magnitude and the horror save by the frightful Chicago theatre disaster which is still fresh in memory.

The captain and pilots of the ill-fated vessel have been arrested and undoubtedly a rigid inquiry will be made. While this investigation can be of no value to the hundreds of victims of this disaster it may result in permanent good in the better equipment of excursion steamers for protection against fire, just as the Iroquois theater horror resulted in the equipment of theatres all over the country with better fire escapes and more complete fire fighting apparatus.

FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE PLAN.

The farmers of the Finleyville, Pa., section have organized a company for the purpose of securing a marketable sale for their farm products. Their idea is the co-operative one. The company just organized proposes to erect a canning factory, where the farm products which are raised by these farmers interested will be canned and prepared for market at once. The idea seems to be a good one. It will afford an opportunity for all the farmers in that section a market for their produce which they do not now have. They will take the products of their farms to this factory, where they will be purchased at a given figure. As they are also the stockholders in the company they will also share in the profits which arise from the sale of the marketable goods. In this way the farmers will be able to benefit largely from their own labors in a way which they could not, were the company not co-operative in its idea.

Startling Evidence.

Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds to be unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland, Bentonville, Va., serves as example. He writes: "I had bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing all lung and throat troubles, consumption, pneumonia and grip. Guaranteed by Hall's drug store. Trial bottles free, regular sizes 50c and $1.00.

An article in the Fruit, Flower and Vegetable Trades Journal of London gives the reasons why Jamaica oranges can be had for nothing in Jamaica and do not pay for packing. A car of oranges from Kendal to Kingston (30 odd miles) costs £14 6s; the same car laden with bananas costs merely £8. Orange marmalade made in Europe can be bought at 4 1/2d per pound jar in Jamaica, so that it does not pay to make marmalade and the demand for orange wine is small compared with the supply. So oranges are left to fall and rot.

in their frenzy and the clothing was torn from me, and my children were finally also torn from me.

"Then came the crash. The decks fell.

"How I got ashore I don't know."

DURING PANIC

Band Played on Board Burning Slocum, But Finally the Jam Became Too Great.

New York, June 16.—While the panic on board the Slocum was at its worst the members of the band, seated on the upper deck, kept on playing.

Finally the jam became so great that they could not use their instruments, and the men gave their attention to trying to quiet the men, women and children.

August Snyder, a cornet player, had his wife and three children on the boat. It had told them not to go far from the band stand, and while the excitement was at its worst they stood near. When playing was impossible, Snyder rushed to his family and took up in his arms their little girl, three years old.

In a few minutes the deck upon which they stood collapsed, Snyder says, and he saw his wife and two children disappear, being carried down with the debris. He fell in the water, the child still clasped in his arms, and they were rescued by the crew of a tug.

PARALLELED

By the Iroquois Theater Disaster is the Destruction of Steamer General Slocum.

New York, June 16.—The holocaust in which the Sound steamer General Slocum burned and in which nearly half of the members of the congregation and Sunday school of the St. Mark's German Lutheran church lost their lives, is paralleled only by the Iroquois theater disaster of last winter.

The following statistics show that aside from the eruption of Mt. Pelee and the annihilation of Martinique the Slocum disaster is the worst of the twentieth century:

June 15, 1904, General Slocum burned in the Hell Gate, East river.

Number on board, 1,600, mostly women and children.

Number reported to have been burned to death or drowned, about 800. Duration of the fire, 30 minutes.

Iroquois theater burned December 30, 1903.

The audience numbered 1,800, mostly women and children.

Number known to have been killed 470. With the missing list the number is 508.

The fire lasted 30 minutes.

HOODOO BOAT

The General Slocum Was Regarded in Shipping Circles—Record of Her Disasters Is Given.

New York, June 16.—In shipping circles the General Slocum was regarded as a hoodoo boat. River men point to the following misfortunes which have befallen the ill-fated craft:

August 14, 1891, four months after launching, the Slocum ran aground.

July 29, 1894, crowded with passengers, she ran aground. A panic on board.

September 1, 1894, the Slocum backed into the tug Robert Sayre and was disabled.

July 8, 1898, with 250 passengers, she was in collision with the steam lighter Ameba. A panic followed.

July 14, 1901, with 700 passengers aboard, she went aground on a bar. The passengers were badly frightened.

INVESTIGATION

To Fix the Responsibility for Disaster Will Be Thorough, Says Mr. Jerome.

New York, June 16.—District Attorney Jerome received official notification of the disaster on the General Slocum from Chief Inspector Cortright, of the police, and immediately directed that an investigation be made to fix the responsibility.

"I cannot tell," said Mr. Jerome, "whether this terrible catastrophe was the result of an accident or due to criminal carelessness or negligence on the part of one or more persons, but this I believe will be determined as soon as the examination of witnesses is concluded. This disaster is appalling. If it is shown to be due to negligence of any one on the Slocum it will be met by the most vigorous prosecution that the district attorney's office is capable of.

"One thing is made very clear by this awful disaster, and that is that steamboats authorized to carry a large number of passengers ought to be made as nearly fire-proof as are the modern steel and stone structures used as apartment houses."

CITY BONDS

SOLD TO A CINCINNATI FIRM THURSDAY.

The Bidding Among Representatives Present Was Quite Lively—Premium Amounted to $4,400.

The sale of Newark City Refunding bonds to the amount of $58,157 at noon Thursday attracted a large number of representatives of banking houses and others interested from all parts of the country. There were four sealed bids from N. W. Harris & Co., Chicago; Albert C. Case, New York; Licking County Bank, Newark, O., and Spitzer & Co., of Toledo.

These bids were opened in the presence of the finance committee of the city council, consisting of the chairman, W. H. Miller, and Rees R. Jones, City Auditor Maurath and City Collector Smythe. The highest premium bid was at Albert C. Case, of New York, he offering $3,425.

After carefully considering these, it was finally decided to reject all of them and to receive verbal bids from the representatives of banking institutions who were present. Sixteen representatives of different institutions were present and of these thirteen were bidders, and were as follows: Albert C. Case, New York; W. H. Harris, Chicago; Licking Bank company, Newark; Spitzer & Co., Toledo; Weil, Roth & Co., Detroit; Dentison, Prior & Co., Cleveland; Parson, Leach & Co., Chicago; E. H. Rollins & Sons, Boston; W. R. Todd & Co., Cleveland; Seagood & Meyer, Cincinnati; W. J. Hayes & Sons, Cleveland; Fuller, Parson & Snyder, Cleveland. The bidding among the different representatives was very lively for a time and started off at a premium of $3,828 and ran up to $4,100, when the bonds were sold to Weil, Roth & Co., of Cincinnati, for $62,557.

The bonds, which are of the denomination of $1,000 each, are to bear 5 per cent interest and are to run until October, 1923, six of them being paid on October 1, 1914, and five each succeeding year until 1922. The last bond, No. 50, will be for $157 only.

Judge Gary at the recent meeting of steel trust stockholders in Hoboken, N. J., said in the course of an argument:

"Your objection reminds me of the objection a lawyer once made to a judge's sentence. This judge had given a prisoner convicted of second degree murder thirty years solitary confinement, whereupon the lawyer cried out:

"But, your honor, my client is old. He won't live thirty years."

"Well, then," said the Judge, "I'll shorten his sentence to life imprisonment if you prefer it." —New York Tribune.

THE W. C. T. U.

This union met at the usual place Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the First M. E. church.

Mrs. Sisson led the devotional singing and prayers and quotations of the scripture was the order.

This being flower mission day the program on this occasion was not carried out, but instead the responsive readings on the subject of flower mission was read and led by Mrs. Holbrook.

This department embraces many lines of work. Its superintendents visit the hospitals, read to the sick and the shut-ins, offer sympathy and help to the wayward and to all those who find themselves behind prison bars; distribute jellies, fruit, vegetables, clothing, fuel, etc., among the poor, the sick and the discouraged; provide Thanksgiving dinners to the needy, and distribute toys, books, pictures, cards, fruit, etc., to those who would otherwise receive no gifts on Christmas day.

What is the flower mission department?

It is a mission of love which strives to portray the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

There are many touching incidents that speak of the great influence exerted through the flower mission. A pathetic note reads: "To the lady of the fruit and flower mission, I have been sick for more than two years. I love flowers dearly and I should be very grateful for a few to cheer my sad heart and lonely room. Please excuse me for troubling you, as I know you must have many to provide for."

The superintendent of Alabama writes: "A prisoner said to us as he was leaving for home, 'I quit these prison walls a changed man. I thank God for the flower mission, the Bible and the texts you have brought me with the flowers have led me from darkness into light, and have taught me that the blood of Christ cleanseth from all sin.' Another: 'God wonderfully blessed me in the soul saving work, and I thank you for your kindness in giving me the flowers, as they have been the best instrument in reaching some of the worst places in my district. ## WOODMEN ENTERTAINED

Big Parade Headed by Buckeye Band Reached Completely Around the Public Square--Hundreds of Woodmen Entertained by Mr. John P. Lamb in Fine Style.

One of the most unique and remarkable social entertainments ever given in this city in point of size and the magnitude of the undertaking was the entertainment given on Wednesday night by Mr. John P. Lamb, president of the Board of Public Service, to the members of Cedar Camp, 1727, Modern Woodmen of America.

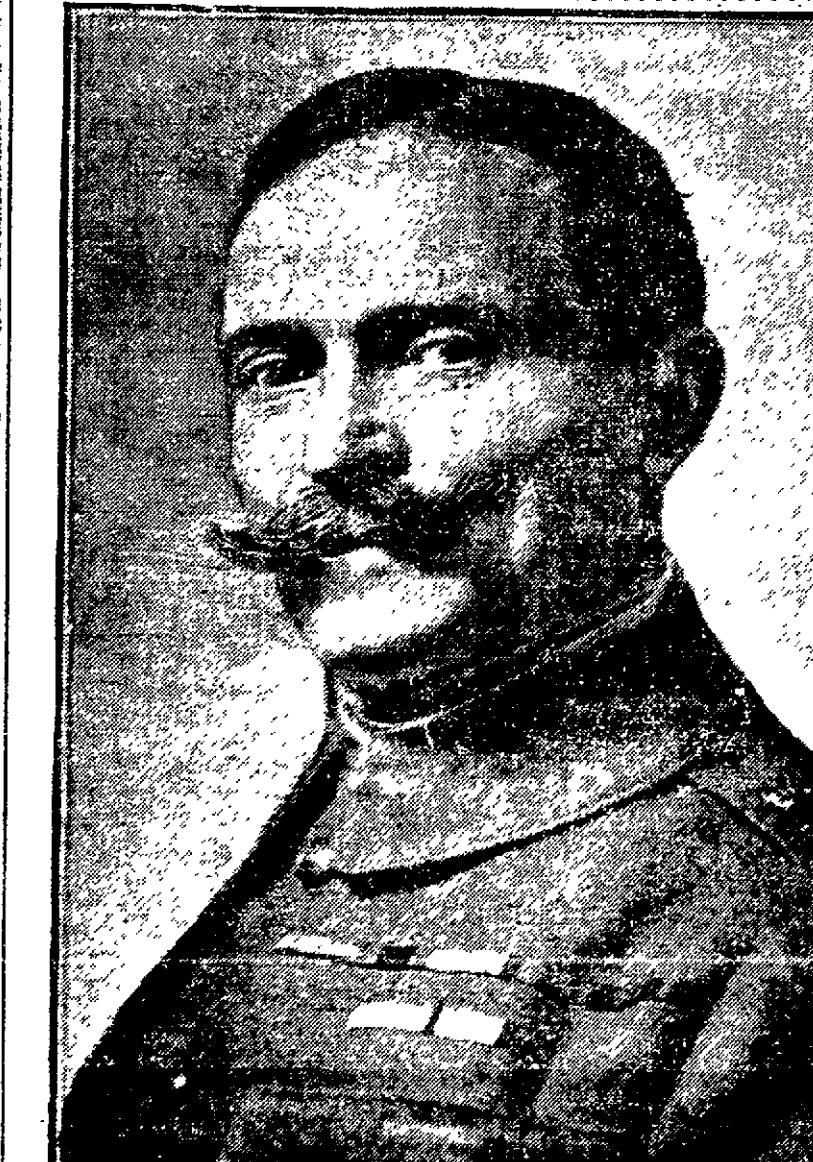

The occasion of the entertainment was a friendly contest which has just ended between Mr. Lamb and Mr. Frank Kinney of the West End as Captains of teams to see which could get the most members for the Camp—the object being to swell the membership beyond one thousand and the losing captain to give a treat to the whole camp.

On making the count—the actual membership of Cedar Camp now being 1040, Mr. Kinney's side was found to be the winner, and thereupon Mr. Lamb proceeded to make his promise of giving the whole Camp of Woodmen, including the Royal Neighbors, an auxiliary band of ladies, a royal welcome.

Mr. Lamb's beautiful home on the corner of Granville and Buckingham streets, was the place of entertainment, and long rows of tables were spread over spacious lawns, giving ample accommodations for the multitude that was to be entertained. The lawn was beautifully lighted with Chinese lanterns and arc lights, and when filled with the throngs of gaily dressed people, presented a scene of rare beauty.

The Woodmen, hundreds in number, met at the hall on West Main street, at 7:30 o'clock and formed in double line, each member carrying a lighted Chinese lantern. The procession was headed by the Buckeye Band, which discoursed excellent music. Then came the automobile of Woodman W. D. Fulton, in which was seated Mayor Crilly and other prominent officials. Cedar Camp's splendid drill team of Foresters then followed, after which came the Woodmen, marching two by two. The long procession reached completely around the square and back on West Main street, and the many colored lanterns, all lighted, presented a beautiful appearance. A crowd, numbering thousands of people, completely blocked the entire line of march. Such a parade by a single fraternal organization, has probably never been witnessed in Newark before.

On Saturday afternoon of this week a matinee performance of the "Two Orphans" will be given especially for ladies and children, the prices being 5 and 10 cents for reserved seats.

VITONA

"The New Way to Health"

This wonderful prescription—it is not a mere patent medicine—has been used with marvellous success in hundreds of cases by a physician in his private practice. It contains a secret ingredient discovered by a German chemist, from whom we have purchased the American rights. This chemical acts directly on the body, clearing it of all impurities, destroying the germs and thereby restoring health to all the organs.

"Vitona" is the only medicinal agent which will protect the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys from the ravages of disease. When these organs are deranged it is always a sign of some disorder in the blood. Thousands of people have blood disease and don't know it. They think the ailment is local to the organs affected and treat them instead of getting at the real seat of the disease and eradicating it completely by means of Vitona. Here are symptoms of blood trouble:

Some Dangerous Symptoms:

Don't Delay: Act!

If you have a single one of these symptoms, it is a sign that your blood needs treatment, and you should not delay an hour, but begin using "Vitona" at once. You can be saved and restored to perfect health by means of this great remedy and you owe it to yourself, your family and friends to take prompt steps to put yourself at once in the way to recovery. Price of Vitona is $1.00. Written guarantee given with each bottle.

CHERNY

Formerly a Denison Pitcher, Was Elected Captain of Western Reserve Baseball Team.

Cleveland, O., June 16.—Western Reserve baseball men and politically inclined students are at loggerheads. After losing to Ottorbein Wednesday, Cherny, a Denison graduate, was elected captain for next year.

"Hopper" Herrick, the midget pitcher, was considered to be the logical candidate, but the combination against him was too strong.

Herrick pitched the game yesterday and struck out nine men, allowing but six hits. Still he lost on account of poor support. Score:

R. H. E. Reserves. 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 6 4 Oberlin. 2 0 3 0 0 0 0 2 7 6 1

Cherny was alternate pitcher with Philpot during the season of 1902, and went to the Cleveland school last year. He pitched against Denison last season and this, losing both games.

Illinois Beat Wesleyan. Delaware, O., June 16.—Against the crippled Wesleyan team, University of Illinois experienced no difficulty in winning Wednesday afternoon, 19 to 2.

Two regular Methodist players have gone home and the consequently weakened infield gave Webb poor support. He was hit hard at first, but gritted up after the game was already lost.

Wesleyan could not solve Pfeffer, except in the fourth, when two doubles and a single gave Wesleyan her only runs. Score:

R. H. E. O. W. U. 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2 5 7 Illinois. 3 2 0 3 0 2 0 0 0 10 15 2

Batteries—Webb, McClelland and Thomas; Pfeffer and Zangerle. Umpire—Curtis.

Mt. Vernon Nearly Won. Mt. Vernon, O., June 16.—Zanesville won Wednesday, but the locals scared Lucas almost to death by rallying at the bat in the last half of the ninth, when five clean singles and a double netted four runs.

Two men were out and the bases full after the quartet of runs had crossed the plate, but Clarke's bat failed to have a hit in it and the game ended with victory still perching on the Mo-Justice, ss. 6 2 1 4 0 0.

Humphreys was brought in to short and played a great game. Drumm secured a fluke home run in the first, with one man ahead of him, the ball rolling under centerfield fence. For the locals the hitting of Kettler and Higer was the feature. Therscore:

R. H. E. Mt. Vernon 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 4 5 9 2 Zanesville 4 0 0 0 0 0 2 6 10 2

Batteries—Wilmot and Miller; Lucas and Carson. Umpire—Rigler.

St. Louis Baseball.

"After having watched both St. Louis baseball clubs I am afraid to venture a prediction that either aggregation will finish better than in its league," says John Wray, the St. Louis sporting authority.

"The Americans will get in the first division by the supplanting of Anderson by Jones at first, by the marked improvement in both hitting and fielding of Wallace and Hall and possibly by the coming of Hulseman to the outfit.

The Nationals, under Nichols, of 1904 have improved everywhere.

"In the case of the Americans, however, the improvement in the infield and hitting ability of the club will be offset by the weakness in the pitching department."

CHAMPIONSHIP

WON BY MR. J. R. TAYLOR, WHO IS A NEWARK MAN.

Great Record Made by Mr. Taylor on Wednesday—Previous Day He Tied With Rhodes.

Akron, O., July 16.—The tie for the State Amateur Trap Shooters' championship and the Ohio State Journal trophy made Tuesday in the first day's work of the Ohio Trap Shooters' league meet was shot off Wednesday, and J. R. Taylor, of Newark, is champion of the state. Two trials were necessary. In the first, Taylor and Rhodes, of Springfield, his opponents, each broke 13 out of 15, on the second trial Taylor broke 11 and Rhodes 13. Seventy seven met shot in the 11 events. In the morning Young, of Springfield, an amateur, broke 60 straight. At the end of the day's shooting, Foote, of the Edgewater club, Toledo, and Krider, of Barberton, were tied with defeat scores of 27 for the Press-Post trophy. This will be decided in Thursday's work. Galet and Krider, two-man team from Barberton, won Sportsman's Review trophy, shooting as follows: Galet 24, Krider 25. A team from Lakeside club, Canton, was a close second. High professionals Wednesday were: Ware, Cincinnati, 171 out of 175; L. J. Squire, Cincinnati, 169; J. A. R. Elliott, Kaukauna, 166; C. A. Young, of Springfield, led the amateurs with 171 out of 175. Williams, of Cleveland second, with 65, and Wagoner, of Akron, third, with 160. Thursday is the last day's shooting. There will be 11 regular events and special five-men team race for the shooting and fishing trophy, 50 targets per man, 30 singles and 10 teams.

OPERATION

Performed Upon Jeffries' Knee May Cause the Big Fight to Be Called Off.

Harbin Springs, Cal., June 16.—Jeffries' left knee was operated upon at noon Wednesday. A tablespoon and a full half of pus was removed. Jeffries will have to remain in bed for five or six days. At the expiration of that time he may be able to continue training.

BEAUTIFUL WINONA. Excursions via Pennsylvania Lines to That Pretty Resort.

Although the operation was a very painful one, the champion bore up very well. He did not take any anaesthetic during the cutting process.

Unless Jeffries' condition improves steadily the fight will be declared off. The probable indefinite postponing of the battle is greatly worrying the champion, as he feels that the impression will go abroad that he is permanently out of business.

As a matter of fact, the impression is very slowly but nevertheless steadily gaining upon the minds of the "inner circle" that the scrap will not occur this month, if at all.

Evergreen" Dixon Is Prospering.

George Dixon, who is called the "evergreen fighter" by some of the English newspapers because of his long campaign in the ring, has four fights on hand and is contemplating more. Most of Dixon's bouts are above ten rounds. Of course when he cannot score fights of longer duration he is satisfied to sign as long as there is enough money in it for him. Dixon has signed papers to meet George Moore of Barking, Rudolph Uhniak, champion featherweight of South Africa, and Spike Roivon.

Dixon is proud of the fact that he has been able to secure so many engagements, while a number of English fighters have gone unmatched. "When I was champion," he said in a recent interview, "I would rather fight than eat. I feel the same way now, although I am not on top. A fighter who fights at the drop of the hat will be popular, even if he does not win all the time. I don't care about doing any talking. I leave that all to my manager. That's what he is paid for."

Judging from Dixon's plans, he does not intend returning to America at least for the present. He is doing very well in England and is probably making more money than he would over here.

The Big St. Louis Auto Run.

The automobile invasion of St. Louis this coming summer, when a national run will be held from various parts of the country to the world's fair, gives every indication of being the most remarkable automobile pilgrimage ever undertaken. The work of organizing the big national tour is being carried on along lines similar to the organization of an army into corps. The general committee of the American Automobile association has been and is organizing subcommittees throughout the country with members in each city or town whose participation in the tour is expected. No expense is to be spared in perfecting arrangements for the tour.

LACROSSE IN CANADA.

Judging from accounts of the annual meeting of the Toronto Lacrosse club the semi-professional spirit seems to have taken strong root in Canada. An item of over $600 for "testimonials" appeared in the treasurer's report, and about the only explanation forthcoming was that the money was gone and could not be recovered. This "testimony" was found to be a mere resemblance to the "prize" that used to be furnished to some of the prominent amateur baseball teams.

MICHIGAN'S NEW "PHENOM."

Ralph Rose of the University of Michigan is the latest sensation in the sporting world. As this is his first year in the college, he bids fair to surpass the athletic exploits that have already won him national fame.

A yard engine was switching at that point, and the horse being between the train and the engine, became frightened. Suddenly wheeling it threw one of the women from the buggy. Mr. John Scanlan hurried to the rescue and saved the other woman and a little child from injury. The lady thrown out was bruised but received no serious injuries.

LABOR DAY

WILL BE CELEBRATED HERE ON A BIG SCALE.

Neighboring Towns Are Invited to Come to Newark and Take Part in the Demonstration.

A member of the Trades Council stated this morning that probably there will be no Labor day celebration in Mansfield. Some time ago finance committees were appointed to make a canvass of the town for funds. These committees have been laboring diligently, but are meeting with little success. The members thereof say the public seems indifferent toward the celebration and are not willing to help it along as they should. Inasmuch as $1,000 will be needed to get in shape for the celebration and not one-half of this amount has been provided for, the outlook for the big day that has been planned for is not at all bright—Mansfield News.

The people of Mansfield are cordially invited to come to Newark and assist in celebrating Labor day. Plans are already being laid whereby Newark is to have one of the biggest Labor day celebrations in her history. Heretofore the labor organizations have depended to a great extent on the merchants for assistance in celebrating the day in Newark, but this will practically be done away with this year, and the expense of the celebration will largely be paid by the various labor organizations. A big program of exercises will be carried out on the Public Square and a committee is now engaged in arranging a program. An immense crowd will be in the city, and Cambridge, Coshocton, Byesville, Newcomerstown and other places have already signified their intention of sending large delegations to Newark, and Mansfield should get in the band wagon.
